

Health and Safety Matters

April 3, 2025

Upcoming events

April 10 | WEBINAR
Building a culture of communication to support neurodiverse voices

April 11 | WORKSHOP
Gentle Persuasive Approaches

April 28 | WORKSHOP
Gentle Persuasive Approaches

Register at safecarebc.ca/events

Strengthen your safety committee with these tips

Want to take your committee to the next level? Here are some tips to become even more effective:

- Break down your annual review into smaller parts. Take on one or two topics per month, rather than overwhelming yourself with everything all at once.
- Use your health and safety board to communicate important information to your workers. Not sure what to include? Use our virtual safety board to help.
- Remember, safety is everyone's responsibility—not just members of the committee. Engage with everyone in the workplace.

Join the Technical Advisory Committee

We're looking for two home health and community care representatives to join our Technical Advisory Committee.

Please send your application to board@safecarebc.ca and include:

- A copy of your resume (or CV) highlighting your experience in building health and safety awareness and promoting best practices in the long-term care sector,
- One-page letter of intent answering:
 - Why you would like to be a part of the committee?
 - What will you bring to the committee?
 - What are the key issues you see for the sector regarding health and safety education?

Read the full issue