Protect your workplace with September's featured courses

Regardless of your role, you have a responsibility to prevent the spread of infection in your workplace. From washing your hands to getting vaccinated, there are many ways to keep your environment safe.

To help you get started, we're offering not one, but two online, self-paced courses at a 50% discount—for members that means they are just $6 each.

Infection Prevention

Safety committee members, do you need a refresher?

Led by our Occupational Health and Safety Manager, our free joint occupational health and safety refresher presentations reinforce core responsibilities and strategies to keep your committee effective and compliant.

The 30-minute session can be booked in-person or virtually, and can be integrated into your committee meetings.
